

DTI MAKES STRATEGIC INVESTMENT IN VALORA TECHNOLOGIES

Global eDiscovery and Legal Services Market Leader Invests in AutoClassification Information Governance Pioneer

Atlanta, GA and Bedford, MA - March 29, 2017 – DTI, a global legal process outsourcing (LPO) company providing eDiscovery, management services, litigation support, and court reporting, and Valora Technologies, Inc., the leading innovator in AutoClassification, Predictive Analytics and Document Data Mining Technologies for Information Governance, eDiscovery, and Records Management, today announced that DTI has successfully completed a strategic, minority investment in Valora Technologies, Inc. The investment marks the beginning of the coming-of-age of AutoClassification and the clear commitment of DTI to invest in leading-edge Information Governance solutions.

“This investment will propel Valora to the forefront of AutoClassification technology, building on our already substantial lead,” indicated Valora CEO, Sandra Serkes. “Our mission is to transform the creation and utilization of rich metadata for many mission-critical information management purposes, such as large content migrations, file cleanups, remediation, classification and compliance.”

“Valora’s PowerHouse engine is miles ahead of anything we’ve seen in the eDiscovery or Information Governance space and we are impressed with the Valora team,” noted John Davenport, Jr., founder and chief executive officer of DTI. “We look forward to bringing sophisticated solutions like these to our extensive client base.”

Valora remains an independent organization from DTI, maintaining its small, woman-owned status, and current management team. Terms of the financing were not disclosed.
